

Meakem to be guest speaker at Chamber annual meet

The African American Chamber of Commerce of Western Pennsylvania will hold its Eighth Annual Meeting Luncheon May 30 at the Omni William Penn Hotel at 12 p.m.

The keynote speaker will be Glen T. Meakem, managing general partner of Meakem Becker Venture Capital, and founder and chairman of FreeMarkets, Inc., a revolutionary outlet for business-to-business electronic commerce.

MEAKEM

Founded in 1995, FreeMarkets, Inc. is the leading provider of software, services and information that assists corporations with all phases of supply management. Meakem and his team sold the company to Ariba for $500 million in 2004.

Prior to starting FreeMarket's, Meakem held professional and managerial positions with McKinsey & Co., Kraft-General Foods and General Electric. He was also an officer in the United States Army Reserve, where he achieved the rank of Captain. Meakem holds a B.A. and an MBA from Harvard University.

The Annual Meeting Luncheon attracts over 400 people throughout the region each year, and the theme for this year's luncheon is "Technology Matters."

Named one of 40 technology pioneers by the World Economic Forum, Meakem will stress the importance of small business and offer his strategy for success.

"Glen is a true entrepreneur and a valuable resource to share with our members and the small business community," said Chamber President and CEO Doris Carson Williams. "He exemplifies the importance of taking risks and managing change."

The mission of the AACCC of Western Pennsylvania is to continuously improve business and professional opportunities for African-American business owners and professionals.
