CCAC President Dr. Stewart Sutin to Address
African American Chamber of Commerce PowerBreakfast

(Pittsburgh, PA-November 9, 2005) Dr. Stewart E. Sutin, newly named President of Community College of Allegheny County, will address the African American Chamber of Commerce of Western PA PowerBreakfast Meeting to be held at the Rivers Club, Downtown on November 18, 2005. Dr. Sutin is expected to announce plans on advancing procurement and the school's educational programs for small business owners.

Dr. Sutin is co-founder of the Global Trade Institute of Pennsylvania, dedicated to helping area companies improve their international trade strategies. Dr. Sutin, CCAC's seventh president, also served as Senior Vice President and International Department Head for Mellon Financial Corporation, and serves on a number of advisory boards at the University of Pittsburgh including the Center for International Business Studies.

The African American Chamber of Commerce holds PowerBreakfast meetings every month featuring guest speakers from the public, private and government business sectors. The networking opportunities through the PowerBreakfast Meetings provide access to key decision makers previously unavailable to the African American Chamber's members.

The African American Chamber of Commerce has held ten PowerBreakfast Meetings each year since October 1998.
